Presidents' Message

From the Desks of Linda Robinson and Doug Storm

Welcome back from your summer activities, everyone. On behalf of the REAO and AREOC Board of Directors, we hope you experienced a safe, happy and healthy summer. Fall is just around the corner, bringing with it seasonal change, new experiences and further challenges.

Speaking of change, during the past few months a number of events have led to several changes in the County structure. Carl Crown, former Human Resource (HR) Director, has been replaced by Director Steve Danley, a County employee with years of experience in the HR field. Also in HR—Employee Benefits Manager Wayne Willard, formerly of the County of Los Angeles, has been selected to replace Patti Gilbert who retired earlier this year. In addition, CEO Tom Mauk ended his nine-year tenure with the County on August 3rd. A permanent CEO replacement will be recruited later this year. Todd Spitzer was elected in June to serve as the 3rd District Supervisor beginning in January, 2013 replacing Bill Campbell. Supervisor Campbell has served the County of Orange for the past 8 years and we wish him success in the future. REAO looks forward to developing an open, working relationship with each newly elected or appointed County official and we wish all those leaving the County good health and a prosperous future.

More Change: Faye Watanabe has been elected to serve as Secretary of the REAO Board of Directors. Faye will replace June Marcott—an indefatigable, dedicated and tenacious Board member. June has been an inspiration to the entire REAO Board and to everyone she has assisted during the four years she served on your behalf. Here's a BIG welcome to Faye. To June—you will be sincerely missed. We want to give special thanks to Norma Roberts who has graciously volunteered to be Coordinator of the "Board Watch" Committee. This committee has been invaluable in keeping your Board of Directors informed of Board of Supervisor Agenda Items that effect all of us as retirees. Volunteers are extremely important to REAO and we are always searching for retiree assistance. Please think about volunteering to assist your fellow retirees.

2013 Health Insurance Rates: The Board of Supervisors recently adopted 2013 retiree medical insurance premiums. REAO was not included in the rate setting process.

Comments to the California Legislative Conference Committee on Public Employee Pensions

by Lou Scarpino

On April 13, 2012, I had the opportunity to speak before the California Senate and Assembly Conference Committee on Public Employee Pensions that is engaged in pension "reform" hearings. This was part of a broader effort by our CRCEA Retirement Security Committee, REAOC/AREOC and the remaining 19 member county associations help provide balance and a counter to the predominant message pension policy makers have been hearing.

My purpose was to provide the Conference Committee with insight on a critical developing area of concern not focused on the extensive input they previously received.

Specifically, defined benefit (DB) pension assets serve as a highly efficient safety net for the California and US economy. By their very nature, DB plans are a systemic, built in economic pump priming mechanism (i.e. an automatic bail out – without the political angst). New research is beginning to illuminate the historical and critical importance of this function and the increasing importance it has in the evolving and increasingly competitive world economy – impacting both private sector and government employers.

The simple facts are that DB retirement system assets provide equity capital for business modern-

Your Board of Directors has requested meetings with the County and that request has been granted. We are anticipating further discussions regarding the new rates and expect to learn more about changes to retiree health benefits. We will provide additional input and make recommendations where appropriate. We will keep you apprised as we move forward.

Litigation Update: Judge Guilford is the sitting judge in REAOC's lawsuit against the County for splitting our healthcare insurance pool – a benefit that retirees earned while employed with the County of Orange. The judge, once again, ruled in favor of the county for the same reasons he did in his initial ruling; this despite being reversed by the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals and the State Supreme Court. We are presently proceeding with the appeals process.

Lastly, we want to thank you for your membership in REAOC. It is extremely important retiree voices are heard above the political posturing and media rhetoric we hear today. There are two sides to every story and we need to make sure our story gets told. Thank you, again. Take care and be well.

The mission of REAOC is to promote and maintain fellowship and camaraderie of OCERS retirees and their spouses by sponsoring social and recreational activities and by maintaining contacts via the newsletter, the REAOC website, e-mail, or other means of communication. A secondary purpose is tracking and dissemination of information relating to pension and legislative actions, financial matters, physical and mental health care, volunteer and employment opportunities and other concerns that may be of interest to our members.

OCERS retirees and their spouses are eligible for regular association membership. Dues are $3.00 per month, payable through payroll deduction. Active employees, who will receive their retirement through OCERS, are eligible for Associate Membership. Dues for associate members are $1.00 per month payable for the year each January.

Luncheons are held at Mile Square Golf Course in Fountain Valley on the fourth Wednesday of January, March, May and September, and on the first Wednesday of December. A local chapter of REAOC is active in Hemet.

Love It When a Plan Comes Together

by Gaylan Harris and Lou Scarpino

So why are we unashamedly borrowing this famous line from the “A Team”? Because this year’s Spring CRCEA Conference, hosted by Tulare County April 16 to 18 in Visalia embodied a certain maturity of various efforts put in play over the last several years. REAOC attendees Co-Presidents Linda Robinson and Doug Storm, Gaylan Harris and Lou Scarpino were left with the impression that this three-day program was one of the strongest yet. Two areas were particularly noteworthy.

First, two new CRCEA initiatives, the Speakers and Rapid Response Team Programs, were rolled out. These are designed to deliver an effective counter message to the barrage of negative public pension media reports.

Second, Retiree Associations are experiencing synergy derived from attacks by counties on their retirees and causing retiree groups to work together – often through CRCEA. This, in turn, is fueling new hope that retiree efforts to win legal battles will meet with success and may soon bear fruit for retirees. As the May conference is the first since the California Supreme Court gave REAOC a unanimous decision that the County of Orange is subject to implied contract provisions, we heard several Counties express their appreciation that REAOC, through the generous support of Orange County retirees, opened the door for their own lawsuits to go forward.

Counties involved in lawsuits include Sacramento, Sonoma, Contra Costa and Stanislaus. Sacramento

County retirees received a favorable court ruling that will enable them to pursue issues of disparate treatment in the way retiree medical programs were implemented for different groups of retirees. Stanislaus County retirees received a favorable decision that monies set aside for benefits for retirees could not be used for other purposes like lowering contributions for employers.

The legal process for other Counties like Orange has been long and difficult. In most cases retiree efforts for justice had been thwarted by legal maneuvering and postponements. The REAOC case has seemingly broken the log jam in several other Counties. In turn, the success in these other Counties very well could assist Orange County retirees.

The Keynote Address, by former Army soldier Norbie Lora, was extremely powerful and moving. After loss of his right arm and ability to speak, his articulate presentation proved an inspiration for all of us to work hard and prevail over our common issues. We will explore the possibility of a presentation at an upcoming luncheon.

Governor Brown’s 12 Point Pension Reform Plan and Impacts on 1937 Act Plans was discussed by David Kehler, Tulare County Employees Retirement Association’s Administrator and former OCERS benefits manager. David was a key player in implementing the Retiree Medical grant program in Orange County and is an expert on the Orange County’s retirement plan. Of particular note was David’s recommendation that CRCEA focus on the public pension opposition’s strategy to potentially use public sector bankruptcy as a weapon to negate pension obligations.

Sacramento Politics – What’s working, What’s Not – was the subject discussed by Republican Assembly Minority Leader Connie Conway. Assembly Member Conway discussed her activities, successes and frustrations in the California State Legislature. A former Tulare County Supervisor, and member of the retirement board, her main theme was that party politics are alive and well in Sacramento, which she sees as dysfunctional and not likely to change despite its dismal approval rating at the polls. She firmly believes and pitches regularly that there is a strong need for “Adult Talk” to face problems head on.

Assembly Member Conway and her Caucus have endorsed the governor’s 12 point plan for retirement reform. She is not in favor of a budget based on tax increases. She is also not in favor of taking away benefits from retirees without discussion/negotiations – the implication being that she evidently believes benefits can be taken away through discussions/negotiations.

The California Residential Real Estate Market: For retirees, negative trends in the California real estate market may be of particular concern. Undoubtedly, some of our REAOC members find themselves or their children at the wrong end of a mortgage to value equation, or in need of using equity in a property for living expenses. If you find yourself in ization and expansion as well as reliable pay checks to retirees – all at half the cost of 401(k) defined contribution type plans. While DB plans support the economy in good times, they are proving especially critical as a core economic support and recovery mechanism when the economy hits the bottom of down cycles. At a time when a $12.3 Trillion worldwide equity shortfall by 2020 is projected, a shortfall that would be made far worse if existing significant government DB plans were substantially converted to 401(k) plans, the conclusion provided the Committee was obvious. Specifically, taking government DB funds significantly out of play in the capital markets, and eliminating them as a reliable funding source for retiree expenditures does, in fact, threaten to irreparably harm the California and US Economy. Retention of DB type plans, in potentially altered form to correct abuses, is a critical design parameter in pension reform and, therefore, highly recommended. Actual testimony is available at www.crcearesearch.com.

AERO (your advocacy arm of REAOC) NEEDS YOU to follow our lead and help get a balancing counter message, that we will provide, out to the voting public and policy makers.

We encourage all REAOC members to get involved at whatever level you can. This may be as simple as one-on-one with your friends and neighbors, through written efforts such as letters to the editor or articles in your organizations' newsletters, or by making a presentation to your church group, service club, chamber of commerce or other organization. If you would like to become even more active and become a member of our Rapid Response Program or Speakers Programs team, we would be most happy to have you. either of these circumstances, then some of the perspectives provided by 30 year veteran and real estate broker Brad Masske, GRI & Host of KMJ580 "Real Talk" may be of interest.

While this forum will not allow for a complete discussion, three items were particularly apropos to our readership: 1. Brad recommends use of Reverse Mortgages when circumstances favor the home owner; 2. He advises that Retirees on fixed income not take on variable mortgages now because, given the current economic dynamics in place, he sees rates only going up substantially over the life of any such arrangement; and 3. Brad noted that bank abuses are still happening.

Global Financial Update – While this session was most relevant to attendees that sit on retirement boards, some of the pieces presented by Scott Whalen, Investment Consultant for Wurts & Associates, were pertinent to our members in working through your own financial plans. In general, Scott was upbeat on the economy, but did sound notes of caution. He observed that US household wealth has now reached $76 trillion – near pre-recession levels. Banks and corporations are also sitting on a lot of money. This is one of the key elements of growth. However, the money is not being put to use and therefore is not in use to grow the economy. Without this second factor, the economy overall is stuck at a 2% or so growth rate. If household consumer spending can top 5%, Scott believes that hiring will increase and our consumer driven economy would enter into a self sustaining cycle.

Legislative Report – We again had the opportunity to discuss the major relevant happenings in California with our lobbyist Amy Brown and the Assembly and Senate Principal Consultants for their respective committees responsible for pension issues. The primary thrust of this session was the work of the Senate / Assembly Conference Committee on Public Pensions, and their impact on peripheral issues such as the initiative process. In a nutshell, virtually all pension policy related matters have been put on hold pending the outcome of the Conference Committee hearings that include assessment and possible incorporation of Governor Brown's 12 point pension reform plan. On the pension reform issue, there are a number of reforms that actually have bi-partisan support including but not limited to: Various fixes to abuses resulting in spiking that drives up benefit payments; Not allowing employer rate holidays that unnecessarily create artificially increased often high payment demands on employers during economic down turns; Prohibition of "Air Time" purchases for time never worked (for non-1937 Act Plan systems); and calculating final pay based on an employee's final three years of service.

On the state budget, suffice it to say that it is still not in the black and balancing it is dependent on the success of the Governor's initiative to raise taxes. Absent that, schools, in particular will be cut.

CRCEA's Retirement Security Sub-Committee – Provided a summary of their next White Paper near completion entitled – Transition to 401(k) Plans – A Train Wreck in the Making – Part II, Impact on the Economy. In brief, the white paper finds that there would be long term significant damage to the economy if Defined Benefit plan funds were taken out of play – damaging stemming from severely diminished investment funds flowing to corporations and government and diminished consumer spending.

Finally, as noted earlier the Committee unveiled two new action programs, The Rapid Response Program and the Speakers Program. The goal of these programs is to get effective counter messages out to the voting public and policy makers through providing as many of our 163,000 retirees and allied groups with simple and effective materials to allow them to counter most often heard negative arguments in one-on-one discussions, as well as, for a trained group from each of our 20 member CRCEA Associations, more formal speeches and written responses.

REAOC is a participant in these programs, with local coordination provided by board member Larry Leaman for the Rapid Response Program, and Legislative Chair Lou Scarpino for the Speakers Program. Available materials can be viewed at www.crcearesearch.com

If you wish to participate in one or both of these action programs, please contact Ilene Barcenas at reaoc@reaoc.org or (714) 840-3995.
