RETIRED EMPLOYEES ASSOCIATION OF ORANGE COUNTY, INC.

Spring Luncheon Set for Wednesday, March 22

A delicious menu (on Page 7), important retirement information and exciting new entertainment is planned for our March luncheon. We have always known our members have talent beyond their former County jobs. Bill Castro has arranged for REAO member Tom Horton and his wife Tina to host karaoke for REAO members.

Be thinking of a song you would like to sing and when you choose one, please notify Ilene Barcenas at the REAO Office. Include your name, the song title and artist if possible. Ilene will notify the Hortons to determine whether or not the song is available for karaoke. You may also include a second alternative song in case your first choice is not available. Be sure to send your song

Presidents' Message

From the Desks of Linda Robinson and Doug Storm

On behalf of the entire REAO and AREOC Board of Directors—Happy Springtime, Retirees. What a grand time of year. We welcome the arrival of nature's annual, transformative process and on March 12th we can enjoy the arrival of daylight savings time. This is a time of change and activity on many fronts. Challenges may confront each and every one of us on this adventurous journey we call life, but we will meet those challenges because we are a hearty bunch with incredible experience, determination and unity.

CURRENT ACTIVITY Following the January issuance of retiree pension checks a number of REAO members immediately noticed discrepancies in deductions. The majority of disparities were related to insurance coverage and grant offsets. Some retirees were told their coverage had been dropped after contacting Secova, the new Benefits Center Administrator, while other retirees were informed of this contention directly from their service providers. REAO Board members straightaway met with County and OCERS staff to determine the extent of the problem and to seek resolution. We learned the irregularities were the result of a complex transition of contracted administrative data services from one Benefits Center vendor to another. Adding to the dilemma was Open Enrollment changes and additions. Board members have met a number of times with OCERS and County staff to discuss and resolve these important issues. Significant corrective action has been taken by the County; however, the best laid plans could still result in some recurring, unresolved individual issues. If that should occur, please contact Secova—the new administrator. The number to call is 1-800-858-7266. By now, you should have received a letter from the County explaining details of the issues raised and subsequently addressed during the contract transition.

Be assured, retiree medical continues to be a primary focus for your Board of Directors. In February, members of your Board met with

by Norma Roberts

The REAOC Board and members need a few more volunteers to join the Board Watch Committee. The committee protects retiree rights/benefits by reviewing the Board of Supervisors (BOS) agendas and minutes and listening to the meetings in order to identify any items that might affect retiree rights/benefits or be of interest to REAOC members.

Currently each committee member listens to four to six meetings per calendar year. The BOS now meets Employee Benefits staff to begin the initial 2018 Retiree Medical Rates process. We appreciate the County including REAOC in meetings this far in advance of rate development and rate setting. Further information will be provided as discussions continue.

REAOC Board members and volunteers continue to work on behalf of retirees. Two REAOC representatives attended the 26th Annual UCI: 2017 Health Care Forecast Conference with an agenda topic of "Health Politics and Policies Under A New President" held February 23-24 in Irvine. You will read about the conference content in the upcoming Informer.

REAOC Board members continue regular attendance at OCERS Retirement Board meetings and provide updates regarding retiree issues. We are appreciative of the open lines of communication provided with the OCERS Retirement Board and OCERS Administration staff.

REQUESTED ACTION We need your help in making the REAOC organization as successful as possible in communicating with our members. If you do not have an email or updated email address on file with REAOC, please consider doing so. You can use the REAOC phone number or email address on page 2 of this newsletter to forward that information. Also, if you or anyone you know who is a member, does not have access to a computer, please notify REAOC so we can provide information via mail or alternative avenues of communication. We thank you for your help in this endeavor.

In closing, you can be sure that REAOC will continue to closely monitor proposed legislation or other actions that could impact the retirement benefits we have earned. We will continue to meet regularly with OCERS Administration and continue to network with the other twenty '37 Act retiree associations. Additionally, volunteers and Board members will work with CRCEA and NCPERS to stay abreast of changes that occur during this time of transition at the Federal, State and local level.

RETIREES, thank you for your support, participation and membership in REAOC. Please stay active, informed and unified. Our futures depend on it. Take care and be well.

The Informer is published 5 times a year. Readers are encouraged to write The Informer expressing their views and comments on the subjects of interest to them.

The mission of REAOC is to promote and maintain fellowship and camaraderie of OCERS retirees and their spouses by sponsoring social and recreational activities and by maintaining contacts via the newsletter, the REAOC website, e-mail, or other means of communication. A secondary purpose is tracking and dissemination of information relating to pension and legislative actions, financial matters, physical and mental health care, volunteer and employment opportunities and other concerns that may be of interest to our members.

OCERS retirees and their spouses are eligible for regular association membership. Dues are $3.00 per month, payable through payroll deduction. Active employees, who will receive their retirement through OCERS, are eligible for Associate Membership. Dues for associate members are $1.00 per month payable for the year each January.

Luncheons are held at Mile Square Golf Course in Fountain Valley on the fourth Wednesday of January, March, May and September, and on the first Wednesday of December. A local chapter of REAOC is active in Hemet.

2017 Keith L. Concannon Scholarship Program Reminder

by Jan Grimes

Scholarship applications are due by April 1, 2017 and must be submitted and received electronically. Applications may be requested by telephone at the REAOC office or by email at reaoc@reaoc.org.

Remember, applicants must be related to a REAOC member, although Orange County residency is not required. Students who are related to a member of the REAOC Board of Directors or the Scholarship Committee are not eligible to apply. Also ineligible are students who have already received a REAOC scholarship grant.

Qualifications: Applicants must be full-time students having at least a 3.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Students must be either high school seniors who have been accepted as full-time candidates for a college degree program in the Fall, 2017, or students already pursuing a degree at an accredited educational institution. These include colleges and universities, institutions authorized to provide full credit toward a bachelor's or higher degree, and accredited institutions, authorized to train students for gainful employment in a recognized occupation.

NOTE: The official high school or college transcript and reference letter must be mailed separately with a postmark no later than April 1, 2017. The application instructions should be thoroughly reviewed for requirements.

Please encourage your family members to apply for a 2017 scholarship grant!

What Have You Been Doing With Your Life?

by Robin Mattocks

We are again welcoming your personal stories of interest. Your fellow retirees would like to know more about who you are, what you are doing and what you enjoy. These stories might include your County employment past that others might find interesting or humorous. This gives us an opportunity to reminisce and revisit some forgotten history. Some stories might include your interesting or unusual activities after County employment. What fills your time as a retiree? Did you go to work doing something different or remain retired? What activities bring you satisfaction and happiness. Are you volunteering, making a difference in your community, traveling, playing golf or something else?

Perhaps you are involved in an activity, very different from what you did for the County, and would like to share this with fellow retirees. I have heard some members share their interests and pastimes such as: involvement in genealogy societies, visiting exotic places, caring for unusual animals, playing bridge, sailing and other sports.

What are your hobbies and where are you are traveling? Even a few sentences are fine. You don't have to write a book. You can simply write: "My name is _____ and I have been scrapbooking, playing tennis, restoring vintage cars, or visiting family in _____." You fill in the blanks. You may find a retiree with mutual interests. Think about submitting your story or your two sentences for consideration to be included in the next issue of The Informer. Submission may be made by email or mailed to the REAOC office, P.O. Box 11787, Santa Ana, CA 92711-1787. We are looking forward to remembering the good times and learning a few things about each of you.

only two times per month. All of the information is located online at the BOS web site. BOS meetings may be viewed live or by video later the same day from a home computer, laptop or other electronic device.

Two brief reports are written about each meeting—one on the proposed agenda and one after the Board meets and approves agenda items. The reports are sent to the REAOC Co-Presidents. Reports are only necessary for any items that may impact retirees. For more information, go to the REAOC website, www.reaoc.org and click on "Get Involved." Snakes, Water and Yachts

by Larry Leaman

The record-setting storms that swept California in January reminded me of another time when major rain hit Southern California.

It was early in 1969 when runoff from Saddleback Mountain and the surrounding Santa Ana Mountains caused Santiago Creek to roar to life with raging water. Irvine Lake filled and ran over the spillway, with the resultant torrent rushing through Irvine Park, causing significant loss of land and vegetation. Next on the creek was the relatively new Villa Park Dam built and operated by the Orange County Flood Control District. It filled up and the spillway became a torrent. Downstream in east Orange a large gravel pit (today Katella Avenue crosses the upper end of that pit) filled up and brought the creek to life through Orange and Hart Park. It continued through North Santa Ana where just west of Bristol Street the raging stream joined the similarly raging Santa Ana River.

Silverado Creek, which joins Santiago Creek at the mouth of Silverado Canyon, also raged and the hillsides became saturated. Loss of life occurred when part of the hillside behind the Silverado Fire Station gave way and crashed into the station where some residents had sought refuge. News accounts report that five people were killed and 17 injured in that one incident.

The junction of Santiago Creek and the Santa Ana River saw the water eroding the stream bed of Santiago Creek laterally, eating up the back yards of homes and threatening to undermine several homes to the point they would be lost. County Flood Control crews worked to save those homes and called in the Marines from El Toro, who flew helicopters to that area. Wrecked cars hung from the copters on cables. The copters hovered over the raging water to lower the car bodies in place along the edge of the creek to help stop the erosion and save those homes. That strategy, coupled with a break in the weather, worked!

At the same time the Santa Ana River through Santa Ana Canyon was running full and fast. My colleagues in the County Flood Control Department feared that the river bank would give way where the river turns South as it exits the canyon in Anaheim, flooding Anaheim, just as it did in the late 1930s. A much denser population would have been at great risk in 1969. Fortunately, that did not happen again, but I have been told that it was a close call.

In March of that year I reported to work at my new job as Administrative Services Officer at the Harbor District on Bayside Drive in Newport Beach. This is the location where the Sheriff's Harbor Patrol Headquarters is today in Newport Harbor. Back then the Harbor Patrol was operated by the Harbor District, not the Sheriff's Department.

I quickly learned that a major tributary known as San Diego Creek that drained the area we know today as Irvine, Tustin, Lake Forest and parts of Newport Beach, ran into Upper Newport Bay on its journey to the sea. In 1969 that meant the creek carried logs, brush and the refuse of the farming that covered thousands of acres. Keep in mind, Irvine and Lake Forest did not exist in 1969 but instead, contained various crops and a lot of wild, natural area, including vegetation.

When I arrived at Bayside Drive, I saw the Harbor Patrol boats towing in bundles of brush, logs, lumber and other material that had washed down San Diego Creek into Upper Newport Bay and then found its way to the boat slips, yachts and channels of Newport Harbor. Not only was this debris an unattractive nuisance, it presented a hazard to navigation, so the Harbor Patrol and maintenance personnel were bringing it to the Harbor Patrol docks, where it was loaded onto trucks and hauled to the nearby Coyote Canyon landfill. There was a lot of it and it was a dirty job that took weeks to clean up.

Now, here comes the surprise—the Harbor Patrol and maintenance personnel who wrestled that flotsam to the dock and on to the landfill found that some living things washed into the harbor with it, including rattlesnakes that were still alive! Needless to say, this discovery required everyone to be particularly careful.

I never heard that any of the clean-up crew were hurt by one of those snakes, but there sure was a lot of talk about how big and mad some of them were. It was an education for me and taught me that one cannot be too careful when dealing with Mother Nature. With the storms of this past January I can't help but remember 1969 and wonder what surprises the crews that clean up our harbors and shoreline after big storms found this time! Maybe it is better we not know.
