Presidents' Message

From the Desks of Linda Robinson and Doug Storm

Welcome back from Summer break, everyone. We hope you had an amazing time and are feeling refreshed and rejuvenated, despite the warm temperatures. Fall is on the way and, with a little bit of luck, will bring with it cooler days and nights.

The Labor Day holiday is right around the corner and, on behalf of the REAOC and AREOC Board of Directors, we wish you enjoyable, safe celebrations. Enjoy the day and the pensions you earned through your hard work and labor.

During the summer months your REAOC Board and volunteers continued to address retiree issues through monthly REAOC Board of Directors meetings and attendance at Orange County Employees Retirement System (OCERS) meetings, through Board Watch activities and providing presentations at pre-retirement seminars. Contacts and meetings with County staff and contractors have been helpful and constructive.

2018 Health Insurance Rates

According to County records, approximately 5,900 retirees participate in County-offered medical plans. On August 8th the Board of Supervisors adopted 2018 Retiree Medical Rates. Information on the rate changes for each of the plans was included in the Agenda Staff Reports which went to the Board for approval with the 2018 rates. REAOC was not included in the actual rate-setting process but did attend meetings with County staff to discuss the current state of medical insurance usage, industry trends and certain plan design changes. The 2018 rates vary dependent upon the specific plan and coverage tier elected, some with considerable increases, others with minimal or single-digit increases and several with reductions. Rates are posted on the REAOC website, www.reaoc.org. We highly recommend that all retirees enrolled in County provided health plans thoroughly review all health plan options, taking into consideration individual/family medical needs and financial factors. REAOC is working with Employee Benefits to improve timely and transparent explanations for both increases and decreases in plan options.

Open Enrollment for 2018 will be October 27th through November 17th. As has been customary in the past, the County and the various health plan providers will be conducting several open enrollment presentations. Information on the presentation dates and times will be included in your open enrollment materials. Your Board of Directors STRONGLY recommends attending one of the County-sponsored presentations this fall to fully understand plan options and to ask questions to help you determine/clarify which plan best suits your needs. This will be the fourth consecutive year REAOC is co-sponsoring a presentation. Mile Square Golf Park has been contracted for use of their Clubhouse Banquet facility located at 10401 Warner Avenue in Fountain Valley; this to provide the largest venue possible. The presentation will be held on Wednesday, NOVEMBER 8TH. PLEASE SAVE THE DATE ON YOUR CALENDAR. Additional information will be provided as the date gets closer via the REAOC website and through our email distribution list. As requested last year, if you are able to attend the November 8th seminar, please call the REAOC office at 714-840-3995 or email us at reaoc@reaoc.org to let us know if you plan to attend. This will be very helpful in planning the event. We look forward to seeing you there!

Retirement Security 2017 – What Have We Learned?

by Sara Ruckle-Harms

On behalf of our membership, REAOC sponsored attendance at two annual conferences this year, the UCI 26th Annual Health Care Forecast Conference and NCPERS 2017 Annual Conference. Both of these highly regarded conferences are intended to update attendees on trends impacting the delivery of health care in the US and national trends impacting the security of public employee pensions respectively. Barbara Voelkel and I represented REAOC at UCI and Frank

Eley and I represented us at NCPERS. The UCI 26th Annual Health Care Forecast Conference was held in February, very soon after our 2016 national election. This conference is a leading national forum among government and business leaders, and academics on the economic and political issues that influence the health care industry. Few facts were available relating to the effect of health care reform as imagined by the Trump administration at this early date. The speakers, regardless of their political position, voiced an opinion that our current health care system cannot be sustained.

The following are policies that should be of concern for retirees as health care reform legislation is drafted: Insurance carriers allowed to increase charges for seniors from the current ACA formula of 3 times the average premium cost to 5 times the average premium cost; reestablishing pre-existing health care exclusions; and decreasing Federal dollars to the Red Cross Regional Blood Drive. At Carehouse Healthcare Center, Michael has led group activities for nursing home residents.

Michael has currently used his math, science, and computer programming skills to enhance technology. He developed and published the "CPR Helper" Apple E Watch technical application, assisting those administering CPR timed-vibrations at a specified chest compression rate during CPR. He currently has a provisional patent for a "Specialized Pill Tracker Box," which helps patients organize and manage their medications. In addition, he developed an "SAT Vocab Diary" iPhone app for users to build their own vocabulary lists and provided them with definitions, synonyms and example sentences.

He organized and designed a "TED" talk at his high school. The "TED" website that he developed enabled students and teachers to share their stories with each other.

Michael edits ORIOVISION, the high school's first online science magazine. He is president of the STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) Club, guiding students to identify and choose a career. He serves as Captain of the Woodbridge Ocean Science Bowl. As Vice-President of the Liver Foundation Club, he raises awareness of liver diseases and organizes fundraisers with University High School's sister club.

Jenna Beuck's grandfather, John Bakkli, retired in 1981. Jenna attends San Diego State University and will graduate this year. Her honors and awards at San Diego State include Student Leader of the Year and the Dean's list.

While attending Woodbridge High School, she received the Sentinel Gold Medallion, the Sentinel Award for Academic Excellence in Social Studies, the Sentinel Award for Excellence in Leadership and the President's Education Award.

Her extracurricular activities include: Undergraduate Research Assistant investigating tests for students with aphasia; Vice Chair for the Community Service Commission; Elections Coordinator; Vice-President of Phi Beta Phi Fraternity; Sororities Invested in Survivor Support, Training and Ending Rape Culture; Panhellenic Executive Board Director of Greek Activities and Communications Director for Greek Life Activities. Jenna has also volunteered for fifteen different organizations. Some notable ones include: the A.S. Mobile Food Pantry; National City George Waters Nutrition Center; S.D.S.U. Children's Center; San Diego Downs Syndrome Day Carnival; Ex for Vets and Champions are Readers Program.

Due to her interest in research, Jenna plans to work in a research lab while pursuing her Master's Degree. She hopes to pursue a PhD, to teach college students and continue research. With a psychology minor, she hopes to focus on cognitive and behavioral neuroscience.

Congratulations to all of our exceptional scholarship awardees! Thank you to the Scholarship Committee members and to the REAOC members for generously supporting the scholarship program.

Medicaid program that supports retirees in nursing homes. Of particular interest is the continued inclusion of the "Cadillac Tax" in these proposed reforms.

The Affordable Care Act imposed an annual 40% excise tax on "high value" plans with annual premiums exceeding $10,800 for individuals or $29,500 for a family starting in 2020, to be paid by insurers. This is known as the Cadillac Tax. Its goal is to cap expensive benefits offered by employers and reduce overall health care costs. Though this tax will be levied on insurance companies, the burden will likely be passed on to workers in the form of lower wages. Some employers will avoid the tax by switching to less expensive health plans. As employers seek to minimize the effect of such a tax, retirees should expect aggressive cost cutting in the form of narrower networks, higher deductibles and out-of-pocket cost and other limits. Economists acknowledge that the tax will cause employees to lose benefits, but hope those employees will eventually see wage increases to offset increased health care expenses. These economic theories won't help retirees who will be subject to benefit cuts, but are not eligible for wage increases should they ever materialize. Most employers are fighting to repeal this tax and not have it included in any future reform legislation.

As we go to print, senior Republican and Democratic senators have announced plans to begin work on a bipartisan effort to stabilize the current ACA healthcare law. However, there remains some appetite to continue to fight for repeal. Just as in Expert speakers from across the nation presented topics on: investment strategies, cyber security, updates on legal issues and retirement security strategies for public employees. Trends facing pension systems include good and bad: the U.S. balance sheet has improved substantially because of sustained job growth; rising household incomes, and pent up consumer demand. However, political risk in Europe remains a threat to overall economic growth.

Finally, the conference provided an update on NCPERS strategy to achieve retirement security for all. Six years ago, NCPERS laid out the rationale for state-facilitated retirement programs for private-sector employees in a white paper, "The Secure Choice Pension: A Way Forward for Retirement Security in the Private Sector." According to Hank Kim, executive director of NCPERS and author of the paper, initiatives aimed at helping millions of Americans retire with improved financial security have the momentum to succeed and overcome setbacks. Many pension advocates believe that achieving "Retirement Security for All" is the best path for protecting current retiree pensions. By reducing what is often called "pension envy" the attacks against public employee pensions may decrease.

Mr. Kim discussed the growing movement among states to expand workplace retirement savings programs for private-sector employees. "Our 2011 white paper galvanized efforts in a number of states that had been frustrated with the federal government's lack of leadership on retirement policy. We have made tremendous progress since 2012 as state after state has embraced the goal of creating paths to retirement savings for millions of private sector workers."

He noted that on July 1, 2017, Oregon became the first state to accept participants in a Secure Choice inspired, automatic savings program. Additional programs have been enacted and are being developed in California, Connecticut, Illinois, Maryland, New Jersey, Vermont and Washington. Since 2012, 40 states have undertaken studies or initiated other early steps toward the creation of a retirement savings program for the private sector.

Regrettably, a new hurdle faces states implementing these forward-thinking programs. The ERISA Safe Harbor rules, designed to make it easier for states to develop their own so-called Auto-IRA programs, were overturned by federal legislation signed this past April.

The most alarming learning point from this conference: If public pensions continue to be dismantled by our elected officials, they will be inflicting $3.3 trillion damage to our economy by 2025.

Let's continue to stand together as county retirees to protect our hard-earned pension and health care benefits. Thanks for being a REAOC member!
